Resident Spotlight: Anita Kirkpatrick

Anita was born in Vandergrift, Pennsylvania, the youngest child in a family of four girls. Her parents, Joseph and Luisa Ceraso, were both immigrants from Italy through Ellis Island in the late 1800's. Joseph came to America to work in a United States Steel Plant in Vandergrift. Vandergrift is a borough in Westmoreland County, in the Pittsburgh metro area. Anita has fond memories of growing up in a small community with a large population of Italian immigrants and all of her relatives living in the same town.

Anita graduated from Vandergrift High School and Robert Morris College. Her three sisters were the first women to be college educated in their town. They were teachers and collectively taught over 120 years. Anita worked at the United States Steel Plant and the First Commonwealth Bank.

Through life Anita enjoyed cooking, knitting, crocheting and being around people. She is a member and past officer of the Sons of Italy. Anita came to the Lancaster area to be closer to her daughter, Louise, son-in-law Peter, and two grand daughters, Abbey and Katie. She also has one grand-puppy, Gus.

Anita said, "Evergreen is such a wonderful place! I especially appreciate the caring staff."

Staff Spotlight: Sotera Figueroa

Tera is a part of the Evergreen Estates dietary department. Her bubbly personality is an asset to the residents and co-workers. She said, "I love the residents of Evergreen. They are awesome!"

Tera grew up in Lancaster City and attended the School District of Lancaster. Her father works for Johnson and Johnson Pharmaceutical Company. There are seven siblings in Tera's family; two brothers and five sisters. She remembers as children they loved being video taped.

Before working at Evergreen, Tera worked at The Long Community. When not at work she enjoys writing and singing.
